

Handwritten text in red ink, oriented vertically and upside down. The text is mirrored across the page, suggesting bleed-through from the reverse side. The words are difficult to decipher but appear to be:

Handwritten text in red ink, oriented vertically and upside down. The text is mirrored across the page, suggesting bleed-through from the reverse side. The words are difficult to decipher but appear to be:

Small text caption, possibly describing the scene in the adjacent photograph.

